

To Whom It May Concern:

Gerald T. Evans worked full time at DTA from June, 2007 to August, 2008.

Jerry Evans helped DTA in many capacities and filled a variety of roles. His primary work was in the area of Software System Design and Systems Analyst. He has also performed many other duties at different times including, Software development, Customer service team management, Database administration, Process creation/documentation. He continually taught our entire team of programmers principles of Object-Oriented Programming, Database Design, and proper pattern usage. He worked with all areas of the company, directing heavily into proper process and documentation.

Jerry continually demonstrated his experience in areas of business management, sales, and the entire software development process. His expertise in the role of Systems Analyst truly changed our company for the better in many ways.

I would whole-heartedly recommend Jerry's services to anyone. His wide variety of experience and success are an asset to any company.
